

MARIA LUCRECIA ROVALETTI

A LETTER FROM ARGENTINA

At the Academia Nacional de Ciencias (Argentina's Science Academy) we are currently conducting a research on "Present trends in Phenomenological Psychology". One of our aims is setting up a data bank covering specialists as well as books and journals engaged in such a topic.

This is why we cordially invite you to send us your biographical sketch including the following points: your particulars; degree, education, study and/or research scholarships, teaching activities, research co-ordination and organization of scientific events, bibliography, and every particular you may consider useful in this connection.

We would highly appreciate your sending us your bibliography (i.e. books and/or articles) if at all possible – this would be a great help for us inasmuch as a direct access to much material is always difficult at our end. At the same time we could include your bibliography in the list of students' compulsive references in the Phenomenological and Existential Psychology course just have been appointed to. We would also feel grateful if you care to advise us regarding meetings, congresses, and symposia on our topic, or any other related matters. Should you have colleagues interested in entering our data bank, kindly advise them personally and forward them our request.

With many thanks in advance for your attention, we are,

Sincerely yours,

Dr.a Maria Lucrecia Rovaletti
